Interesting Reminiscences of The Famous Pioneer.

The Solid Old House in St. Charles County, Mo. Where He Spent His Last Days.

From St. Louis Globe Democrat, December 5, 1892.)

To the stranger passing though the valley of the Femme Osage, in the Eastern part of Missouri. the greatest object of interest is the house built years ago by Daniel Boone.

Back from the winding valley road at a respectable distance it et, man, courteous to all he met. stands, low eaved, dingy, massive ly built, so near the big bluff is it that, seen from the west, it seems to be entirely within the embrace of the cedar crowned arms of the rocks towering above it. Almost a century old, it is solid looking and as defiant of the passing of time as its granite background.

Here the last years of Daniel Boone's life were spent, and in the little upstairs room facing the frame addition, which phlegmaric utilitarians have built as a "lean to", the spirit of the greatest pioneer known in western history. winged its way to that world which even he might not explore in the flesh. With the growing reverence for history treating of America and Americans, it is passing strange that the foremost pioneer in the development of the west should be so nearly forgotten. The bones of Boone now rest in Kentucky soil, in what he lovingly termed "the happy hunting ground." But all ends there. No attempt has been made to appropriately mark the spot near Marthasville, Warren county, where Boone's body was first consigned to earth. The German tenant of the house in which the pioneer died has no knowledge of its history, If it were not for the old stone house in the valley of the Femme Osage and the numerous bits of interesting history in the country where he died his memory would be but a misty blur upon the minds of the oldest and as a blank to the younger gen

Remington Arms-Union Metallic Cartridge Co. oolworth Building (233 Broadway) New York City

The majority of men relish good, fresh, tasty bread and miss it keenly when compelled to eat ordinary bread. Complete confidence comes to the woman who uses the Morning Star Flour in her bakings, confidence when she buys, for every sack is guaranteed to give satisfaction, confidence when she bakes for Morning Star Flour never goes wrong, but goes further than usual flour by making more loaves to the sack, causes the least care in the mixing, and kneading, and produces the most satisfying bread, light, sweet, snowy white loaves with crusts delicious and tender, and there is least waste from stale ends and dry crusts, for bread made from Morning Stnr Flour keeps fresh longer than other. It permits of baking more loaves at a time and less often, thereby saving in work. fuel and care.

Will You Read This Twice?

A very important question to-day which every housekeeper must decide for herself is whether she prefers pure, cream of tartar baking powder like Royal or whether she is willing to use baking powder made of inferior substitutes which do not add healthful qualities to the food.

One kind is easily distinguished from the other, since the laws of various States require the ingredients to be printed upon the label. If anyone is in doubt which kind is most healthful, it is worth while to ask the family doctor. Then decide.

And when once a decision is reached let no advertisement or dealer's argument or canvasser's solicitation change the decision. It is not a question of a few cents or of pleasing a salesman. It is a question of health.

If this appeals to you as reasonable and sensible advice, it is worth reading twice. And it is worth remembering.

Copyright, 1914, by Panama Pacific International Exposition Company. In May, 1915, the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco will be the gathering place of the most expert aeronauts from all the civilized nations of the globe, when the start is made of the great aerial race-aroundthe-world for a prize of $300,000, the largest sum ever offered for any single sporting event in history. Every de scription of motor-driven air craft will participate in this stupendous loop-the-loop around the globe. The race will represent the climax of all the world's aeronautical activities and will stand for all time as an immortal epic of human daring, human ingenuity, and the marvelous epitome of the progress of mankind. It will be the supreme adventure of our day. As an achievement, it will mark a historic cycle that will compare with the crossing of the Atlantic by Columbus and the circumnavigation of the world by the fleet of Magellan in 1522. Aviators have long discussed the project of round-the-world aeroplane tours.

Copyright, 1914, by Panama Pacific International Exposition Company

This photograph shows the enlarged figures for the colossal group, "Nations of the East," to crown the Arch o the Rising Sun at the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco in 1915. With the exception of the elephant and the camel on the left all the figures are completed. The elephant, however, will be surmounted by a howdah and the camel by a rider. The group in its entirety is the conception of A. Stirling Calder, with whom Frederick G. R. Roth and Leo Lentelli co-operated. The huge elephant in the center of the group was modeled by Mr. Roth, who also modeled the camels. The mounted horsemen were modeled by Leo Lentelli. From left to right gain. the figures are: Arab warrior, negro servitor bearing baskets of fruit, camel and rider, falconer, elephant, representing India; Buddhist lama, bearing emblem of authority; camel and rider, negro servitor, Mongolian warrior.

WORLD'S FIRST INDOOR AEROPLANE FLIGHT.

Copyright, 1914, by Panama Pacific International Exposition Company The first time an aeroplane ever flew inside a building was when Lincoln Beachey, the famous aviator, flew in the huge Palace of Machinery on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International exposition to open in San Francisco on February 20, 1915. The Palace of Machinery is almost 1,000 feet long and 136 feet high. Beachey passed from one end to the other of the building, flying for more than 300 feet and at height of 60 feet. The most remarkable feature of the flight was that he had to steer a straight course down the center aisle, which is 75 feet in width

Prominent Louisville Contractor Says He Was Improved by Tanlac.

Louisville Ky., Nov. 11, 1915. -Col. Joseph Coyne, one of the best known General contractors in the South and builder of many miles of hard surfaced streetsland roads in around Louisville, who resides at 438 South Fourth Stree. this city, has added his words of commendation to those of thousands of others. Praising Tanlac he said:

"My kidneys have annoyed me for a number of years. I suffered great pain as a result. I also suffered periodically from rheumatism, the condition affecting various parts of my body. I walked with great difficuly and could not use my hands naturally. suffered from a pain in the ball of my foot fully ten years. That pain has disappeared.

"My Kidneys are greatly im proved and my rheumatism has virtually disappeared. My strength has returned and my appetite and sleep have improved I feel vigorous and healthy, and attribute the change to the use of Tanlac only. This medicine is alright, I reccommend and commend it."

Tanlac the premier preparation, is on sale in Mt. Vernon, at the Drugstore of Chas. C. Davis, and can also be obtained at the Central for several years and we see no Drug Co., Livingston, and John Robins' Drug Brodhead, Ky.
